

Pay attention to "The 5 scenes" which increase the risk of COVID-19 infection

Scene 1: Parties with dining

- Drinking alcohol could put you on a high and lower your attention to the precautions.
- Our hearing weakens from drinking alcohol, which makes us speak louder.
- The infection risk will rise when many people stay long hours in secluded rooms.
- Do not share glasses or utensils.

Scene 2: Social-Gathering

- Slow dining such as client dinners or pub crawling create a high risk of infection compared to quick dining.
- When you dine with a big group (i. e. more than 5 people), people tend to speak louder, which raises the infection risks by spreading droplets.

Scene 3: Conversation without facial covers

- The infection risk will be increased when you have conversations at a close distance without facial covers.
- Some cases have been reported where the infection had spread through "Karaoke" without masks.
- Wear a face covering on public transport unless you are exempt.

Scene 4: Sharing spaces

- When you share a small space for long hours with others, the infection risks will be higher.
- Some patients are suspected to have been get infected by sharing dormitory rooms or its toilets.

Scene 5: Between breaks

- By changing location or situation at breaks, people tend to forget their precautions for the prevention of the infection.
- Some cases have been reported where people caught the infection in places such as break rooms, smoking areas and changing rooms.

[ Keep in mind at all times ]

- Wear a facial mask
- Avoid the three Cs (Closed spaces, Crowded places, Close-contact settings) and ventilate properly
- Gathering should be in small groups and short time
- Do not speak louder than necessary
- Wash your hands or use hand sanitizers in public institutions / space
